
Baltimore City Public Schools Data on College Enrollment and Completion

Prepared by Baltimore Education Research
Consortium and Baltimore City Schools Office of Achievement and Accountability

For Principals' Retreat, Convened by
CollegeBound Foundation, March 19, 2010

The data sources used to conduct the analysis represented in the forthcoming slides:

- Baltimore City Public Schools Administrative Data
 - National Student Clearinghouse
 - Morgan State University, Office of Institutional Research
-

Objective

- Research staff from the Baltimore Education Research Consortium (BERC) and the City Schools Office of Achievement and Accountability (A&A) prepared a summary of college enrollment outcomes based on National Student Clearinghouse data (supplemented by comparable data from Morgan State University) for the High School Classes of 2008 and 2009.
 - For the enrollment for Classes of 2008 and 2009, we suggest the results are useful as baseline measures against which future goals might be set.
-

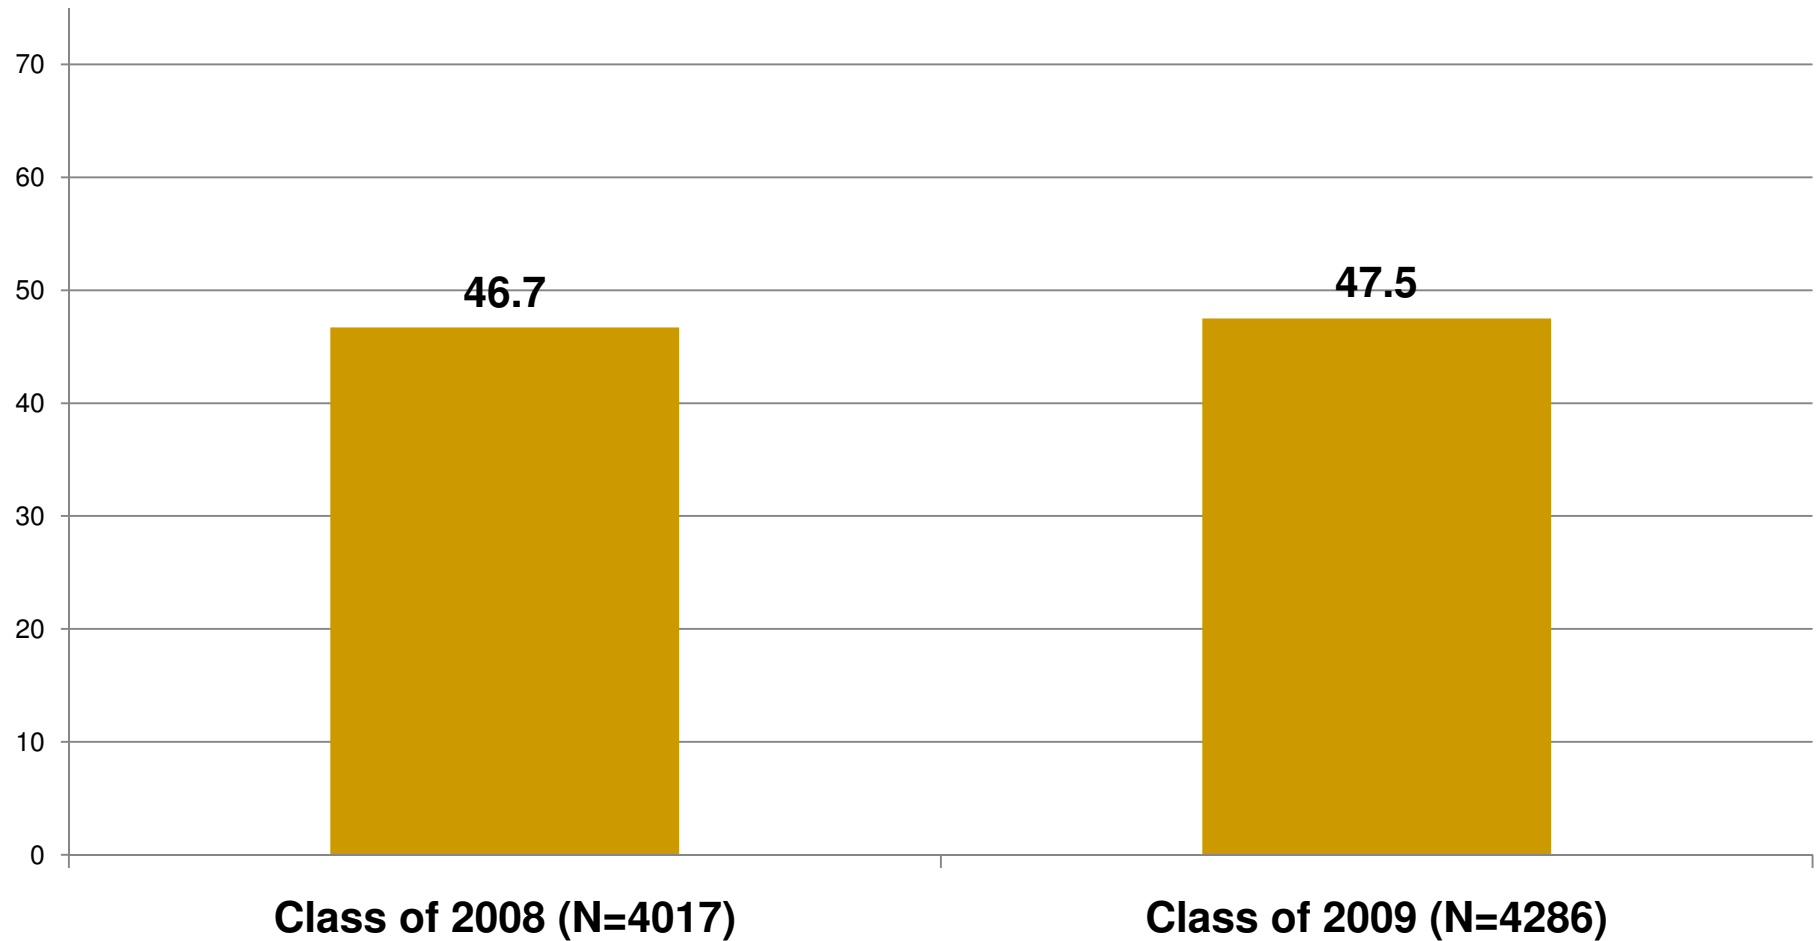

City Schools

High School Graduating Classes*

- ❑ Class of 2008, N=4017
- ❑ Class of 2009, N=4286

*Graduates receiving regular diplomas.

What Percent of Each High School Graduating Class Enrolled in College the Fall Following High School Graduation? **

 Using data from the National Student Clearinghouse and Morgan State Office of Institutional Research.

Among Those Enrolling in the Fall Following High School Graduation, What Percent Enrolled in 4-Year and 2-Year Colleges? **

 Using data from the National Student Clearinghouse and Morgan State Office of Institutional Research.

Among Students Enrolling in the Fall Following High School Graduation, What Percent Enrolled at Historically Black Colleges/Universities (HBCU) and Out-of-State Institutions? **

 Using data from the National Student Clearinghouse and Morgan State Office of Institutional Research.

Among Students Enrolling at 4-Year Colleges in the Fall Following High School Graduation, How Selective Were the Schools They Attended? **

 Using data from the National Student Clearinghouse and Morgan State Office of Institutional Research. Barron's Selectivity Ratings obtained from Barron's Profile of American Colleges, 2009.

What Percent of Male and Female High School Graduates Enrolled in College in the Fall Following High School Graduation? **

 Using data from the National Student Clearinghouse and Morgan State Office of Institutional Research.